Description:

Get on the stage!

Sometimes, Japanese culture may look strange and absurd to us. But besides Sushi there is at least one more thing that unites us: karaoke. In the 70ies the wave of singing amateurs started in the land of the rising sun and since then has been swashing all over the world. It has also reached European coasts and guess what? People here love it as well. To bring up the fun singing famous tunes we may introduce our karaoke video player. It is not only able to read a multitude of different files, it also has two microphone inputs at its disposal and can easily adjust the echo of the performing voices. Also a nice device for disk jockeys who want to extend their program with video clips. Get our KVP-101 and fun is guaranteed.
