Description:

The DIMAVERY ASW-60 acoustic guitar impresses with its sound, looks and high-quality components. First and foremost: the solid mahogany body, which provides powerful sound. The solid spruce top contributes its part to the well assertive and defined tone. Also made of rosewood is the fingerboard left elegantly unadorned on the mahogany neck. D'Addario strings run between a bone nut and the rosewood bridge.

Visually, the ASW-60 also offers a few special features: An elegant binding runs around the Dreadnought body on the front and back. The soundhole decoration is enhanced with subtle pearl effects. And on the top of the body runs a slight shaping, which not only looks elegant, but also provides a very comfortable rest for the right arm.

Of course, the ASW-60 also comes with a pickup system including 4-band EQ, integrated tuner and phase switch.
