Description:

The artificial cannabis branch from Europalms is ideal for staging and advertising your products, for example in the field of cosmetics, clothing or food, in a targeted manner.

During the production, special attention was paid to a true-to-nature finish: On the upper two thirds of the total 90 cm long grass branch are the typical, hand-shaped assembled, structured leaves with sawn edges. Like their natural counterparts, these vary in size and shades of green.

In the media, hemp is usually mentioned in connection with hashish or marijuana. But what is often pushed into the background is that cannabis is one of the oldest useful plants: The stalks with almost indestructible fibers are processed into textiles or ropes, and extracted oils are used in cosmetic products or food.
