Description:

In the dark corners of forgotten vaults lurk creatures that are better left undisturbed. This giant Halloween spider from Europalms seems to have found its home there. Whether as an eerie eye-catcher for the entrance area or as a perfidious trap in a dark corner - this spider leaves no visitor unscathed.

The spider sits motionless on a dark elevation while its long, hairy legs protrude from a dense spider web. Instead of its actual body, a pale skull can be seen - caught in the sticky threads of the web, as if it were the last victim of this ominous creature. But BEWARE! Anyone who ventures too close will experience the true horror. With a bloodcurdling scream, the spider suddenly leaps into the air. A moment of shock that will freeze even the bravest! Its attack is accompanied by powerful organ sounds reminiscent of the dramatic finale of a scary movie. At the same time, the skull's eyes flash an ominous red and the spider slowly returns to its starting position, accompanied by spiteful laughter and organ sounds.

An unforgettable shocker for any Halloween production!

The animation of the Halloween decoration is activated via an integrated microphone or wired control (a switch for this is inconspicuously located on the top side of the base, concealed behind fleece).
