Description:

Take me to the next level!
Seeing things clearly is often very helpful - not only in the figurative sense. Let's think of a DJ's workplace. Surely you will find some small light sources, but in general it's not brightly illuminated. So sometimes it might get hard to read all instruments properly. The Omnitronic DB-200 can shed light on this darkness. The level meter is designed for displaying the level (two channels) of audio signals and it is equipped with three-color LEDs (40 LEDs per channel). Compared to normal mixers, it's much easier to read the audio signals as the LED scale is bigger and better arranged. You can even choose between dot or a bargraph display, just as you prefer. But there is one thing besides the benefit for the DJ which we shouldn't forget to mention. It's the effect of the LEDs. As eye-catcher at a DJ booth they really show up well.
